New Warehouse Construction Started in Singapore

Our subsidiary in Singapore, Sumitomo Warehouse (Singapore) Pte Ltd (hereinafter called “SWS”) started construction of its new warehouse.

1. Purpose of Construction

SWS now has two warehouses in Tuas area and an office in Singapore Changi Airport to engage in total logistics services.

In Singapore, further economic growth is forecasted especially in Jurong Island which embraces one of the largest petrochemical complexes in Asia and SWS expects its handling volume of petrochemical products etc. to expand. Furthermore, due to the improvement of living standards in Southeast Asian countries recent years, the kinds of cargoes handled in Singapore diversify and it gave rise to further demand for temperature-controlled warehousing services.

Considering such circumstances, SWS determined to construct a new warehouse equipped with a temperature controlling facilities (15-25°C/59.0-77.0°F) for handling foods, medical devices, etc. and now started its construction. After completion of the warehouse, the total floor area of SWS owned warehouses will reach approximately 41,000 square meters.

We will take expanding logistics demand in these warehouses to expand our business in Singapore still more.
